This piece has been delisted in the newest Patriotic book because it occurs as an electrotype only. We don't agree with this decision and feel this is the most legitimate use of die 115A. Most 115A and 115 for that matter were likely made to sell to collectors and were never intended to circulate. This example and 115/530, likely made by a different die sinker using the Lovett obverse as a pattern, did circulate and both come heavily worn and were represented in the "Found In Wall" contemporary hoard of Civil War tokens. From the Steve Tanenbaum collection. (500-750)

364 - WI510AB-1do R10 Raw MS65 60% Bright. Said by Steve Tanenbaum to be struck over an 1863 Cent. While considerable detail of the Copper-Nickel Indian Cent remains, particularly on the reverse, we were unable to make out the date. Friedrich Miller Plankroad Brewery, Milwaukee Wisconsin with barrel and brewing tools. Unique struck over a Copper-Nickel cent. From the Steve Tanenbaum collection earlier from Bill Panitch in 1988. (1500-2000)

365 - WI510AE-1a1 R5 NGC AU58 BN Carl Paeschke Provisions, Milwaukee. From the Steve Tanenbaum collection, earlier from Paul Cunningham's June 1975 sale. (75-100)

366 - WI510AI-1a R5 Raw VF J. B. Schram, Milwaukee Wisconsin. (25-50)

367 - WI510AM-1a R5 NGC MS65 BN 10% Red all on reverse. Struck on an Oversized Planchet and so noted on the NGC holder. D. Stoffel Provisions, Milwaukee. Steve Tanenbaum loved errors and oddities and this one is a real mystery. The obverse is oversized and appears stretched similar to a late die state brockage while the reverse is a needle sharp normal strike that is perfectly centered in a larger than normal 21mm planchet. Our thought is that this token was stuck to the reverse die and was used to strike a number of brockage tokens. Since no brockages are currently known for this merchant they were likely scrapped at the time of manufacture as inferior product and yet somehow this piece managed to escape through serendipity or the intervention of a mint employee. Why they didn't find the brockage intriguing as well and keep a pair together we can only wonder. Please let us know if you have a competing theory. From the Steve Tanenbaum collection, earlier from John Canfield in June 1976. (500-750)

368 - WI510AN-1a1 R6 NGC MS63 BN Struck on a Small Oval Planchet and so noted on the NGC holder. Very interesting error strike, likely unique. Friedrich Thiele Meat Market, Milwaukee. Another very interesting error. From the Steve Tanenbaum collection. (200-300)

Somewhat overrated and we have yet to personally examine the Plain Edge variety. A NGS XF45 sold for $551 in our February 2014 auction. From the John Ford collection. Called WI510AP-5a1 on holder a prior, but incorrect, designation as such tokens as described in 2nd edition of Fuld do not exist. (500-750)

The Fuld number was assigned by Steve Tanenbaum, but it was decided not to be included in the new Store Card book. If a watch check, where are numbers 1 to 31? Perhaps 32 has a different meaning, interesting none the less. From the Steve Tanenbaum, Bob Kraft and Rich Hartzog collections earlier from World Exonumia's September 1991 auction where it brought $105. (100-150)

374 - WI700E-2a R9 NGC AU58 BN J. W. English Trunk & Harness Dealer, Racine Wisconsin. Very rare variety. From the Steve Tanenbaum, Robert Kraft, Rich Hartzog, Charles VerHoeven and Colonel E. H. R. Green collections. (200-300)

378 - WI960C-3a Unlisted Raw EF J. T. SMITH counterstamped on the obverse of an 1865 Indian Head Cent. Still Steve Tanenbaum elected to keep this with his Wisconsin Civil War token collection. From the Steve Tanenbaum, Chet Krause and Virgil Brand collections. (25-50)

380 - SNL-10b1 Unlisted NGC MS62 30% Bright and nicely toned. Called SNL-10b on the holder but this as all others observed has a Reeded rather than the indicated Plain edge. Pittsburgh Landing 10 Camp Shiloh April 6th & 7th 1862 signed by Die Sinker H. Miller of Louisville Kentucky. A very interesting and popular token yet difficult to classify. Is it a Patriotic or is it a Store Card, why and when was it issued…a mystery awaiting discovery. The present example is one of the nicest we have encountered. An AU with a tiny planchet flaw brought $935 in our April 2000 sale. (1500-2000)
